

Please find below some information distributed by Dyslexia Scotland to continue supporting our learners at this time.

Best wishes,

The Support for Learning Department

Dyslexia Scotland's Helpline is running as usual – you can contact them with any queries by phone or email. <https://bit.ly/DSHelpline>

Dyslexia Scotland has created a YouTube playlist called 'At home with Dyslexia Scotland' which contains recorded Parent Masterclasses and information to help with reading and spelling. More content will be added regularly, including information for adults and teachers. <https://bit.ly/AtHomeDS>

There is also a 'Useful links' page on Dyslexia Scotland's website which contains information for parents, teachers and adults during this time. <https://bit.ly/DSLlinks> For teachers this includes links to the online Addressing Dyslexia Toolkit and free online modules.

Dyslexia Unwrapped is Dyslexia Scotland's website for 8 – 18 year olds: <http://bit.ly/DSUnwrapped>

Keep an eye on Dyslexia Scotland's Facebook page for all the latest news and links. <https://bit.ly/2X505XQ>

Dyslexia Scotland is looking at more online content that we can share with you when we have it.

With very best wishes from Dyslexia Scotland Lanarkshire
